1. Youth dominate the audience.

The Youth segment accounts for 593 viewers (59.3%), making it the largest audience by a significant margin. Adults are a distant second with 263 viewers (26.3%). This suggests Bright TV's content appeals primarily to younger viewers.

2. The audience is predominantly male, 87.6% of viewers are male (876), while only 10.2% are female (102). This indicates an opportunity to develop programming that attracts more female viewers.

3. Gauteng is the strongest market.

Gauteng contributes 364 viewers (36.4%), followed by the Western Cape (193). Together, these two provinces account for over 55% of total viewership, making them the key regions for marketing campaigns.

4. Weekend viewing is significantly lower than weekday viewing.

Weekday views 690 (69%) Weekend views: 310 (31%). Viewer engagement is much stronger during the working week, suggesting weekday programming drives most traffic.

5. Live content attracts the largest audience.

Live Events is the most watched channel/program with 147 views, closely followed by ICC Cricket World Cup 2011 (144). This shows viewers have a strong preference for live or event-based content.

6. Entertainment and sports dominate the Top 5. The Top 5 channels are: Live Events (147) ICC Cricket World Cup 2011 (144) Channel O (127) Trace TV (108) Africa Magic (99) These channels account for 625 of the 1,000 total views (62.5%), indicating viewing is concentrated on a few popular channels.

7. Several channels receive very little engagement. Channels such as MK (4 views), kykNET (7), Break in transmission (8) and M-Net (11) have very low viewership. These channels may require content improvements, better scheduling, or promotional efforts.

8. Average viewing time is around early afternoon The overall average watch time is approximately 13:48 (1:48 PM). Many channels also have average viewing times between 1 PM and 3 PM, suggesting this is a key engagement period.

9. Regional growth opportunities exist. Provinces such as the Northern Cape (25), Free State (27) and North West (31) have relatively low viewer numbers. These regions present opportunities for targeted advertising and localized content to expand the audience.

10. Data quality should be improved. There are 22 viewers with Unknown gender and 22 Uncategorized regions Improving customer profile completeness would lead to more accurate audience segmentation and stronger business insights.
